Ahead of the Rest - Beam2Present Wins Best Innovations Award in Communications

Following the success of its product, Beam2Present, web collaboration company BeamYourScreen stood out among 1500 applications to take the Best Innovations Award.

Mannheim, GERMANY April 24, 2007 - Web collaboration company, BeamYourScreen, is recognized and awarded for the success of its product Beam2Present (<http://www.Beam2Present.com>).

Beam2Present is an online presentation solution for conducting sales presentations and product demos in real time over the Internet. Users significantly save on travel expenses especially when selling complex products that require extensive explanations. A good example of this is in the software industry and the financial service industry. Since 2004, German Initiative Mittelstand has been awarding the Best Innovations Award for innovative products that offer substantial benefits for small and medium sized enterprises.

The online presentation solution of Mannheim based BeamYourScreen stood up to a total of 1,500 applications. The judges were impressed not only by the value proposition and stability, but also the ease of use. They were also very impressed with the fact that Beam2Present is platform independent, firewall friendly and does not require administrator rights. All these things give it a highly competitive edge in the market. In order to conduct an online presentation, users only need an Internet connection and a browser.

Mark Zondler and Erik Boos, both founders and directors of the Mannheim based web conferencing service provider, are delighted to have received the award: "Winning the Best Innovations Award clearly shows that small providers can come up with award winning solutions too." Despite their success, the young entrepreneurs do not rest on their laurels. In fact further releases can be expected in the future for Beam2Present as well as the company's other products.
