BeamYourScreen Gains Significant Ground - Top 3 in Web Conferencing

BeamYourScreen's latest release, Version 4, has quickly attracted the attention and praise of the vendor-independent reviewer of web conferencing solutions, Online Meeting Tools Review. BeamYourScreen was ranked at third for its well-structured solution, intuitive usage and high security standards, in addition to several other developments in the software.

Mannheim, GERMANY October 13, 2011 - In a recent assessment published by Online Meeting Tools Review, a highly recognized vendor-independent reviewer of web conferencing and webinar products, the latest release of BeamYourScreen was ranked as the third highest web conferencing solution in the market. A total of 35 different web conferencing products were put to the test, with BeamYourScreen's ranking of third placing it above the likes of WebEx, Fuze Meeting and Teamviewer.

Year after year, Online Meeting Tools Review has been testing a wide range of different web conferencing solutions with the aim of providing a quick overview of the leading solutions on their website, webconferencing-test.com, to assist businesses in selecting the most appropriate solution for their needs. The result has been a continuous evaluation of some of the biggest web conferencing solutions available today.

BeamYourScreen only just this year launched its latest release, Version 4. Previously, Online Meeting Tools Review had tested BeamYourScreen Version 3 and ranked it in seventh place. However the latest version of BeamYourScreen brings with it an array of advanced features and developments, something that the vendor-independent reviewer took note of.

Online Meeting Tools Review stated the following in its review: "With version 4.0 BeamYourScreen provides a lean and well-structured web conferencing solution with intuitive usage. Additionally, the set of functionalities can be adapted from meeting to meeting. A simple and quick installation and setup process, a slim meeting planner, as well as high security standards must all be mentioned."

BeamYourScreen's management and team were delighted to see their latest product being praised so strongly. "A great deal of time, research and testing was put into the development of BeamYourScreen Version 4, so this recognition shows that our hard work has really paid off and we're very pleased with our final product and its ranking in the top three solutions," says Mark Zondler, Managing Director of BeamYourScreen GmbH.
